SMART METER ENGINEER COURSE

The Course

This unique course, provided by New College Lanarkshire in partnership with ScottishPower and Providor, will take place at the newly built Smart Meter Engineering Training Centre at New College Lanarkshire's Motherwell Campus.

If you are a qualified gas engineer, or you hold a current gas diploma level 2 qualification (or equivalent), this is the perfect opportunity for you to join the smart meter revolution.

This 8 week nationally recognised 'dual fuel' installation programme, supported with industry workplacement, will ensure that you are industry approved and certified as a Dual Fuel Smart Meter Engineer.

When does it begin?

The first course will start on 24th January, with others taking place throughout the year.
